200 People by the Hair

A healthy hair will support onequarter of a pound. There are 120,-000 of these on the head. Figure it out. It is equivalent to holding an audience of 200 people weighing 150 pounds each! That doesn't seem possible, but it's so.

It doesn't seem possible, either, that Ayer's Hair Vigor can restore color to gray hair; but it does restore it, and every time, too. It also stops falling of the hair and keeps the scalp clean and healthy.

"Your wonderful Hair Vigor has been used for the past three years. It keeps the scalp healthy and vigorous, and has produced a luxuriant growth of hair of which I am indeed very proud."—Mrs. L. Steller, St. Lonis, Mo.

Both eams gave a masterful exhibition of the national game, the Browns fielding perfectly, and there was just enough batting to keep the spectators keyed up to a high trate of excitement throughout the contest. All the old favorites—Padden, Burkett, Anderson, Heidrick, Wallace and Sugden -were given a cordial reception by the spec-

The two ex-National League stars in the twirling line. Powell and Orth, did the pitching, and the former had much the better of the argument, although both were hit hard in spots.

Good Start for Senators.

Powell seemed to mack ginger in the first ming and pals the penalty for his listless-ness by allowing the Senators to chase three uns over the plate. The sixth and tenth were two other bad innings for the Brown pitcher. At the start off Ryan was given a base on balls and Wolverton singled over econd. Another base on balls to Delchany filled the bases. Keister then plunked a me single into left and Ryan and Wolveron scored. Delehanty tried to make third ion scored. Delehanty tried to make third in the play and was nailed at third through a good throw to McCormick by Burkett. Joughlin followed with a long single into gain center and Keister scored. The next we batters were easy outs.

The score stood at a to by for four lanings, and as Orth was pitching good hall the game looked like a "cinch" for the Senators, in the fifth Capitain Paiden and his companions woke up, and when the dust had settled the Browns were in the lead, and the spectators settled back to a prospective defeat with a groun. The action of the National League club owners in refusing to entertain peace propositions from the American League apparently has nettled Ban Johnson. In the interview given out by Johnson in Chicago Manday he mide disclosures that bear out suspicions of last winter. It was known that he held a consultation with Spalding at Atlantic City and it is believed he talked to John T. Brush, who opposed Spalding's candidacy for the presidency of the National League. It therefore seems that if the American League had combined with either faction, the other four clubs would have

The high Boston pitcher, and of about the same and as Fat Donovan, who is no midget. Wallace started the trouble for the Senators with a single to left, and Padden hammered a liner for three bases to the coubbouse, scoring Thody. McCormick songled over second, scoring Padden, and Sugden doubled to left, sending McCormick and left sending McCormick songled over second, scoring Padden, and Sugden doubled to left, sending McCormick of Powell's short fly, but a moment later hit Burkett, and also sent Heidrick to base on balls. Maloney hit a slow grounder to Carey, and while he was being put out Sugden crossed the piate with the fourth run. This inning tells the tale of the Brown's game, as they falled to score thereafter.

Score Tied in Sixth.

In the sixth Coughlin hammered out a triple and scored on Carey's single into center, tying the score. Blanks were hung up until the tenth inning was reached, and the spectators were on their feet yelling like mad when the Senators came to the bat for the last time. Wolverton led off with a nice single into left and Delehanty soaked one to the center field fence for two bases, Keister followed with a bounder that went over Anderson's head. Wolverton came home, and the game was won. It was a great finish to a splendid context, the first extra-inning game of the season in Washington.

League. It therefore seems that if the American League had combined with either faction, the other four clubs would have been left out in the cold.

"Hart has been larkely responsible for this feeling between the leagues," said Johnson. "We never touched a player until after Hart had shown his hand. We warned Robison on the St. Louis question. We made the National League what is is to-day by ignoring both factions and realizing that the good of the same lay in two leagues operating in this territory."

The plea of amalgamation suggested by the Spaiding faction was to include the American League clubs in St. Louis and Boston in a circuit composed of Chicago. St. Louis, Boston, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Pittsburg, Washington and Haltimore leaving out Messrs. Freedman, Brush, Robison and Soden. The other faction wanted to combine the rival clubs in St. Louis and Boston and fill out the circuit with Cincinnat, New York, Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia. If Johnson's statements are facts then one-half of the present club owners in the National League were ready last winter to put the others out of business.

Eddie Wheeler, Brooklyn's utility infielder, has won the distinction of being the most honest bail player in the country. Manager Stroebel has made the discovery. When the Brooklyns were in Boston Wheeler asked Hanlon to let him go to Toledo on the condition that he return to Brooklyn next year. In the meantime, he had corresponded with Stroebel, and the latter sent Wheeler half a dozen telegrams. Then Hanlon refused to let Wheeler go, and the player sent Stroebel 2 to cover the cost of the telegrams Stroebel had sent. The latter thereupon called Wheeler an honest man and intimated that he would refund the money. Up to the present, however, wheeler has not received the coin.

Yerkes will go on the firing line to-day, and Manager Ruckenberter of Boston probably will assign Vic Willis or Malarkey to do the twirling for the Beaneaters.

Frank Donahue will have an easy time of it when the Browns play at Philadelphia. Donahue will not venture in Colonel John I. Rogers's ballwick for fear of butting against an injunction.

A play came up in Chicago the other day that is not often seen in the big leagues. It was in one of the games between the Browns and White Sox. Eddle McFarland was on first, and Callahan at bat. Callahan fanned, but Sugden dropped the ball. McFarland sprinted for second, and Sugden lined the ball down to that base, but too late to catch McFarland. Umpire Johnstone then declared Callahan out at first, because there was a runner on first when the third strike was muffed. The rule is intended to prevent a double play.
